The prospect for a large crop of tobacco plants was never better, and now is the best time to figure on a tobacco setter. "Bud" Brother sells the Bemis and it really is the only setter offered that will do the work—especially on rolling or hill-side land.

KILLED BY FALLING TREE.—Elder R. D. Ross received news last week that his brother Eli Ross, aged 28, of Duke, Hinds county, Miss., had been killed by a falling tree while cutting timber on his farm. A wife and four small children survive. Elder Ross' only sister, Mrs. Phoebe Matthews, died at Utica, Miss., in March.

PROFIT MADE IN BUYING.—By buying my buggies in car-load lots I get 27 buggies laid down at Preston for $35, where it would cost me $100 to ship them a few at a time. By buying in car-load lots I can save $5 on each job. So my profit is saved in large quantities. If you want a buggy of any quality I will save you money on it sure, for cash or credit. T. S. SHROUT.

NEW TELEPHONE LINES.—The new line from Salt Lick, owned by the Owingsville Telephone Exchange and W. J. Fell & Son, has been completed. The line now runs to Blackwater, Morgan county, and will at once be built further into the mountains. The Olym Springs Co. will at once begin the erection of a telephone line from the Springs to Owingsville, connecting with local and long distance lines here. This town is exceptionally well off in telephone lines, now being connected not only with every part of the county, but with all the world besides, excepting some portions of the Kentucky mountains, where there are no telephone lines.

Large stock of buggy harness, lap dusters and whips.

E. L. & A. T. BYRON.

Superior corn drills, best and cheapest. Sold by E. L. & A. T. BYRON.

Farmers who had plants large enough have put out a part of their tobacco crop the past week. The transplanting doesn't amount to much in the aggregate.

Garfield Perkins, of Mt. Sterling, is preparing to establish a produce warehouse here with trucker wagons covering the county. He has been with Sullivan & Toohy for some years.

Last Thursday, Rex, the year-old son of Cate Snedegar and wife, near town, swallowed a quantity of coal oil, sucking a portion of it into his windpipe. He was in a serious condition for a time, but is better now.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.—A telegram received here Thursday stated that William Waldeck, son of Dr. Waldeck, of Hilltop, Fleming county, had committed suicide at West Liberty, Morgan county, by drinking carbolic acid. It is stated that the cause was despondency over ill health.

PECULIARLY MARKED.—A colt foaled by a mare belonging to L. M. Butcher, near Odessa, a few weeks ago, is indeed peculiarly marked. On one hip there is a spot which is almost the image of a crane. On the other hip is a spot resembling a turkey. On the colt's sides are white diamond shaped spots. The face is blazed and the feet, legs and lower part of its body are slashed with white. Many have visited the Butcher farm to see the colt, and Mr. Butcher has refused $100 for it.

LOCAL OPTION ELECTION.—On Monday afternoon Judge John A. Dougherty passed on the petition of the anti-local optioners of the town of Owingsville and the local option advocates of the whole county and ordered an election for both to be held on Saturday, Sept. 2, 1905, to determine whether intoxicants shall be sold. The petition of the anti-local optionists of the town of Sharpsburg had been withdrawn. Of course the whole interest will center in the town election.

OLD FIDDLER'S CONTEST.—R. M. Caldwell has assurances from a dozen fiddlers that they will be here Friday night, May 19, and participate in the Old Fiddler's contest at the Court-house. Others who have been notified but not heard from are also expected to take part. Mr. Caldwell desires the contestants to be sure and come early so as not to keep the audience waiting. The doors will open about 7 o'clock and music will begin about 8. Admission 25c, children 15c.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE.—About twice a week the people in Owingsville and this section of the county are in danger of being blown from the face of the earth by a nitro-glycerine explosion. The men who move nitro-glycerine through here to the Ragland and other oil fields have been leaving wagons loaded with the stuff either at the forks of the roads east of town, or in the wide turn just outside of town on the Preston turnpike. If the drivers of the wagons searched the vicinity they could find no more dangerous places to stop, and if by chance a runaway horse or other heavy body strikes the wagons containing the explosive, a catastrophe horrible to contemplate would be the result. Last Thursday and Friday during the thunderstorms two wagons containing about 600 quarts of nitro-glycerine were left in the turn on the Preston road. We understand there is no law against this negligence, but if there is not and the drivers persist in their practice, it would be well for the citizens of the town to take some action in the matter for their own protection.

OUR NEWS.—It is reported here that the Standard Oil Co. and the Licking Valley Oil & Gas Co. will in a short time begin drilling some new wells in the Ragland field. The reason is given that the companies are so well supplied with power-houses that they could pump more wells if they had them. The Standard people are constantly working about six oil-pumping power-houses, and each house is said to be capable of pumping six or seven wells. The Licking Valley Co. now has about 33 producing wells and are pumping with one power-house. A large number of oil wells at Ragland have been cleaned out and new machinery installed which will pump more oil. This oil is pumped into big tanks near Salt Lick and shipped to market from there. The Standard is said to be endeavoring to secure more territory on the old Ragland lease, but are restrained by heirs. The Standard originally paid $10,000 for a lease on the Ragland property. In Rowan county, opposite the Ragland field, the Morehead Oil & Gas Co. are drilling two new wells and will probably drill more. They have 60 producing wells there now.

Drilling will likely begin soon in the Embury field. A large quantity of nitro-glycerine has been taken there and machinery placed for drilling the wells. The wells and lease there are owned by the St. Louis Oil Co. and the Yale Oil Co.

DESTRUCTIVE STORMS.—Beginning Wednesday of last week, and continuing at intervals Thursday and Friday, this county experienced the most severe electric and rain storms in years. Wednesday a miniature cloudburst visited the East Fork of Flat Creek section, washing up tobacco plant beds, corn crops, gardens, tearing out fencing and washing the ground badly. Considerable damage was done in other parts of the county.

Thursday heavy rains fell, accompanied by a terrific electric storm. Every long-distance telephone line in the county was put out of commission and Owingsville was without telephone connection with the outside world for the first time in years. The stores of S. P. Atchison and S. D. Thompson & Co., in which are located telephone pay stations, were set on fire by lightning running in on wires and slight damage done. The fuse in nearly every telephone connected with the local exchange was burned out. The Wyoming line and a local line were struck by lightning at the forks of the roads east of town and broken. Near town Mrs. Mit Davis was engaged in getting some small chickens under shelter when lightning struck a smoke-house near by, shocking Mrs. Davis into insensibility, knocking down her little child near by and killing a dog with which the child had been playing. Mrs. Davis was badly hurt. A. N. Denton's residence on State avenue was struck by lightning and the veranda damaged. Many telephone lines in the county were torn down or splintered by lightning striking them. All streams rose rapidly. Licking river overflowed into Salt Lick and missed getting into Wyoming by about two feet. Every stream in the county overflowed its banks. Prickly Ash came down with a rush and overflowed Thomas Horse-sharpsburg road, forcing horsemen to move out. Lightning struck a corner of the Court house tower, but glanced off without doing any damage.

Friday a cloudburst occurred in Stepstone creek neighborhood and Stepstone creek came down in a flood. The flood in which crops were planted was overwashed and crops ruined. Tobacco plant beds and gardens were destroyed. Places and other farming implements which had been left in the fields were caught in the flood and swept away. In White Oak section the same day a cloudburst occurred, flooding the fields and crops. Hundreds of pounds of fence rails were swept away. White Oak Creek was higher than it had been for years.

Tuesday night of last week lightning struck and killed a mule valued at $200 on Goodpasture & Atchison's farm near Reynoldsville, and also killed a $75 horse belonging to James McNeish.

The damage to farming interests in this county is almost incalculable.

Circuit Court.—Nothing of much importance was done in Circuit Court last week until the trial of James Riddle for the killing of Odd S. Rodgers was entered on Thursday. The case of Flem Conner was postponed until the next term of Court.

A panel of 237 men was summoned from which to select a jury in the Riddle case. The jury was chosen Friday afternoon. The examination of witnesses was next begun. Speaking by the attorneys began Saturday afternoon and continued until about 3:30 o'clock p. m. J. N. Bitt, C. W. Nesbitt and W. A. Young spoke for the defense, and Judge W. S. Gudgeon, Judge W. H. Holt and Judge C. W. Goodpasture for the prosecution. The jury deliberated on the case for about half an hour and reported that they couldn't agree. Judge Young told them to try again. They reported again Sunday morning that they couldn't agree, but in the afternoon reported verdict finding the defendant guilty and fixing his punishment at eight years in the penitentiary. On Monday it was discovered that Juror Joseph Lagaw, a French Canadian, had never become a naturalized citizen, though a resident of this country for many years. The attorneys for the defense made application for a new trial, which was refused by Judge Young. An appeal will be taken to the Court of Appeals.

PISTOL DUEL.—About 5 o'clock Wednesday morning James Stephens, clerk in R. B. Brother's grocery store, and John Burns, a negro employed at Wm. Atchison's livery stable, engaged in a pistol duel at the corner of Jefferson and Water streets. The negro fired three shots, two taking effect, one in the arm which knocked Stephens down. Stephens then raised himself on his elbow and fired five shots, one taking effect in Burns' stomach, making a fatal wound. Stephens is badly wounded.

GOOD SALES OF MULE COLTS.—Judge Lewis Apperson, of Mt. Sterling, was in Odessa section last week and purchased mare mule colts from the following: One 3-weeks-old from Dallas Guggell, for $80; one 5 days old from Oscar Conyers for $55; one 7 days old from J. L. Snelling for $80. Judge Apperson offered Mrs. Lina Darnell $80 for a 7 days-old colt; but offer was refused.

In same section T. S. Robertson, of Bethel, bought a 2-weeks-old mare mule from L. B. Conyers for $85; near town, Curran Crouch sold a mare mule colt to Robertson at $80; Robertson offered Crouch $90 for another, but offer was declined.

STRING.—"Why did you quit the Richleys, Jane?"

"It was the stinginess of 'em. I was a maid at one of their kitchen windows one day, when the mistress came in and says that she'd give a penny for me, thought—and them millionaires, moaned you!"—Detroit Free Press.
